

French Allocations to Fixed Income Up; Money Market and Real Estate Down

December 4, 2014

Results from the Continental European Institutional Investors Study revealed that investors increased their allocations to fixed income, while decreasing their money market allocations.

French Institutional Investors Asset Allocation By Type of Institution

Other Findings to Help Support Your Business Strategy:

- Corporate pensions increased exposure to fixed income (13: 19%, 14: 35%), while insurance and reinsurance funds increased fixed-income allocation to 76%. This strategic decision follows the actions of Continental European corporates as they search for higher returns with riskier investing.
- Public/Industry pensions more than doubled their allocation to equities, while slashing money market and fixed-income investments.
- French investors identified regulatory pressure, funding position and liability profile as the key decision-maker for allocation changes. Key influencers also include liquidity, asset return expectations and market volatility.

- With regard to portfolio risk, one French investor stated, “There has been no change over the last 12 months. We anticipate a slight decrease in risk over the next 12 months. It will be achieved through a portfolio diversification that will incorporate new asset classes, such as private equity and global bonds.”

As a result, any data contained in the Document may not be directly comparable to data presented to another bank. For franchise benchmarking, Crisil Coalition Greenwich has implemented equal ranking logic on aggregate results i.e., when sales revenues are within 5% of at least one competitor ahead, a tie is shown and designated by = (where actual ranks are shown). Entity level data has no equal ranking logic implemented and therefore, on occasion, the differences between rank bands can be very close mathematically.

The data in this Document may reflect the views reported to Crisil Coalition Greenwich by the research participants. Interviewees may be asked about their use of and demand for financial products and services and about investment practices in relevant financial markets. Crisil Coalition Greenwich compiles the data received, conducts statistical analysis and reviews for presentation purposes to produce the final results.
